Drywall tariffs officially ‘dumped’

In a major victory for CHBA and our builder, renovator, developer and drywall contractors, the Canadian International Trade Tribunal (CITT) tossed-out a complaint by CertainTeed Gypsum Canada alleging that dumping of 54-inch drywall made in the U.S. was hurting their business in Western Canada.

CHBA is pleased that the CITT has taken such a well-considered position. The Association’s extensive interventions on drywall tariffs have made it clear to CBSA and the Tribunal that imposing such tariffs has serious and very detrimental financial impacts on builders, drywall contractors and, ultimately, on consumers. Speculation Tax

The tax is expected to be introduced in the Legislature this October during the Fall session. However, opposition to the tax continues to grow with many calling for its removal.

CHBA BC has joined other industry associations in the “Scrap the Speculation Tax” coalition to demonstrate the collective concern and impact on jobs, and B.C.’s economy.

The Union of B.C. Municipalities Convention is taking place from September 10-14. Several policy resolutions, put forward by local governments, in opposition to the tax will be debated by local government delegates. It is positive to see similar concerns from B.C.’s municipal leaders.

The 2018 BC Building and Plumbing Code includes most of the 2015 National Code requirements and some variations specific to British Columbia.

An online consultation on the code changes took place in early 2018.
