LET’S WORK TOGETHER

CHBA Central Interior is a partner in the region, with a focus on consumer protection and affordability. As our community grows and changes, so will the bylaws or policies. For any new changes, CHBA Central Interior suggests the following Best Practices:

1. Industry consultation with CHBA Central Interior members on any issues, including bylaw reviews, new community plans or fee changes.
2. A cost–benefit analysis for any new changes, to protect affordability.
3. Strong communication plans to industry to provide clear and ample notice, which includes working with CHBA Central Interior to get information out to members.
4. A minimum six months phase–in period to build capacity and complete projects already underway.

More energy-efficient than ever
A new home today uses half the energy than a home built pre-1985.

Increased professionalism with mandatory education
Licensed home builders are required to take annual continuing education.

Achieving the missing middle
Home buyers prefer ground-oriented and low-rise homes, such as townhouses.

HOUSING AFFORDABILITY
- IT MATTERS

4 IN 5 RENTERS want to own a home.
75% of Canadians view homeownership as a key to financial security.

50% of British Columbians think housing is the most important issue in the province.

Approximately 95% of residents live in market-provided homes, that are owned or rented.

APPROXIMATELY 80% OF RENTAL UNITS THAT BECOME AVAILABLE EACH YEAR IN CANADA ARE FROM PEOPLE BECOMING HOMEOWNERS.

We must address housing affordability right from homelessness to market ownership. Not addressing homeownership severely impacts other elements of the housing system, such as pressures on the rental market.
